A complete estate plan does not simply provide for moving assets from one generation to the next. A complete estate plan will focus on the enlightened dreams that you have for the next generations and the people that you wish them to be even if you are not here to guide them. A complete estate plan will also seek to mitigate, resolve or plan to address any concerns, worries and fears that you may have for the next generation.

Many of us worry about creditors, predators, in-laws and out-laws and how they may derail your hopes and dreams for the next generation. We worry about the later behavior of the spouses, children or heirs of the next generation. Some even worry that the receipt of the inheritance itself at an inappropriate time can have a negative effect on our children or other heirs. This can all lead to conflict between our children or other heirs. Conflict results in, at best, a financial drain on the estate and may frustrate the financial and other goals that you may have for your children or heirs. Worse still, conflict can produce fractures and ill will between the family members that may never be resolved.

Careful planning should be finely tuned to the family dynamics and to the nature or character of the assets held. The following tips may help you minimize the potential for disputes or conflicts between your heirs after you are gone... READ ON

THANK YOU,
JERRY
RICE!

While visiting San Francisco recently, I noticed an exceedingly large Championship ring worn by a patron at the next table. Mr. Jerry Rice was gracious, friendly, and provided a picture and autograph for my son. We saw him play in a 49er game in years past and are both very big fans.

Friends, please join me with the Rotary Club of Sacramento Foundation and the Sacramento Children's Home to fundraise for the 9th annual Sac Century Challenge. The Sac Century Challenge will be held on Saturday, October 1st beginning and ending on Capitol Mall in Downtown Sacramento. This event is the Sacramento region's premier cycling event to benefit the Sacramento Children's Home Crisis Nursery and the local kids and families they serve.

The Sacramento Children's Home operates the Crisis Nursery, and its mission is to prevent child abuse and neglect by providing support to families in times of crisis. I'm a huge fan of this organization, because it protects our communities' most vulnerable children by offering a safe, supportive environment. The Crisis Nursery provides free, 24-hour emergency child care for children from birth to age five, reduces incidents of child abuse, decreases family violence by offering

In addition to your monetary assets, you should consider what "value legacy" you plan on leaving to your heirs.

For an estate plan to be truly effective and do more than simply move money and assets from one generation to the next, it must accomplish three basic goals: 1) ensure that you are actually leaving your assets to those you designate; 2) make certain those assets are received at the right time to maximize their lifetime benefits; and 3) protect your legacy from being lost to creditors, predatory lawsuits, divorce, government claims or secondary estate tax. In addition to protecting your legacy throughout your beneficiaries' lifetimes, and perhaps for future generations as well, an effective estate plan also... READ ON

RECIPE OF THE MONTH: Raspberry Peach Sherbet

Naturally colored (no weird food dyes), takes only minutes to prepare (no fancy ice cream machine), and so delicious!

INGREDIENTS

- 3-4 cups frozen peach slices
- 1 cup sweetened condensed milk
- 1/2 cup fresh orange juice
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 4 cups frozen raspberries

DIRECTIONS

1. In a blender, purée the peaches with 1/2 cup sweetened condensed milk, 1/4 cup orange juice, and 1 tablespoon lemon juice, scraping down the sides as needed until smooth and creamy. Spoon into a bowl and place in the freezer while you make the raspberry.

2. In the same blender, purée the raspberries with 1/2 cup sweetened condensed milk, 1/4 cup orange juice, and 1 tablespoon lemon juice until smooth and creamy.
3. Alternating scoops, scoop both the peach and raspberry sherbet into a 9x5 inch loaf pan. Then, use a spoon to gently swirl the two together in 2-3 strokes. Cover and freeze until firm, at least 6 hours.

Notes

To Freeze Your Own Peaches and Raspberries: slice the peaches and if desired peel them (I like to leave the skin on). Arrange the peaches on a baking sheet lined with parchment paper and freeze 4 hours or overnight. Do the same with the raspberries. Use as directed in the recipe.

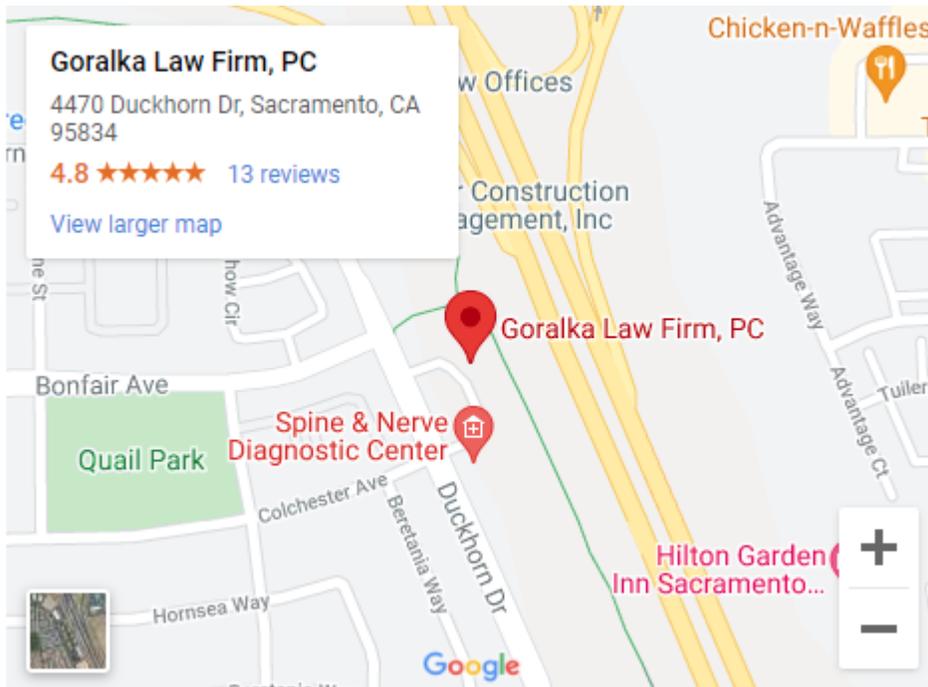

Enjoy! 😊
